November

in the Lismore Area Libraries

On the wild twisting track down to Rainforest Creek There's a fabulous tree where birds play hide and seek...

So begins 'The Hide and Seek Tree of Rainforest Creek', which is currently available to read as a Storywalk installation in the Lismore Quad.

View the full story until 14 November, featuring many favourite local birds, including Australia's 2025 favourite, the Tawny Frogmouth.

ON AGAIN:

Dying Matters Café

Monday 17 November
10-11.30am
Goonellabah Library

Good news for local history and genealogy enthusiasts

The Lismore Library Micro Film reader is now operational.

Library members have access to an extensive collection of archived newspapers, including a full collection of The Northern Star.

The reader is located on the second floor of the Lismore Library, as part of the Research and Family History collection.
