A fossil is the preserved remains of a plant or animal. They are rocks. Fossils are rare because an organism needs to be quickly covered by sediment in order to be turned into a fossil. The fossilisation process takes ten-thousands years. Most fossils are uncovered when rocks are worn away by wind and water. They are found all over the earth, with the largest ones being those of the dinosaurs.

Make an origami dog!

Ask your carer for some paper (remember to say please!) and practise your paper folding skills with this fun origami dog! Your grown-up may help you fold. When you're done, draw on a face and get creative with patterns!

- 1 Start with a square piece of coloured paper, folding it in half diagonally.

- 2 Fold it in half again to make a crease. Then open it out flat.

- 3 Fold down the two top corners on the longest side of the triangle. Roughly fold it along the lines as shown below.

- 4 Fold up the bottom triangle to create the nose.

- 5 Finally, give your dog a face! You could draw it on with pencils or pens or even stick on some googly eyes!

Note: You may want to stick down the ears and nose with some glue if they keep folding up.

Top Tip!

If you don't have any square paper you can make your own! Take a rectangle piece of paper and fold one corner diagonally down so the the edge lines up with the other edge of the paper. Then get a pair of scissors and cut along the bottom of the triangle. Step 1 will then be done for you!
